DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The use of the trademark VELCRO has been noted in this application. It should be capitalized wherever it appears and be accompanied by the generic terminology. Applicant has use the term "Velcro" and it is should be spelled correctly.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, the phrase "obtained after definition of the non-operation condition" is unclear and indefinite. In claim 2, the phrase "obtained before definition of the non-operation condition" is unclear and indefinite. The definition of the non-operation condition has not been provided and therefore the scope is not clear.

In claim 1, the third from last line, "the opposite edges" lack proper antecedent basis and therefore the scope is not clear.

In claim 4, the phrase "characterized in that near the edge (70) of its inner surface" is not clear. If applicant is referring to the flap than it should be clear that applicant is further defining the flap.

The term "velkro" is indefinite inasmuch as there is no such word. Moreover, trademarks are not to be used in claims but instead applicant should use its generic terminology.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-4, 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 5642573 (Brown).

Brown teaches a shoe having structure substantially as claimed including a gaiter 40 which inherently can be pulled down over the shoe and therefore would serve as a protection element. When the gaiter is pulled downward then so is the outer side 66 (flap) of the pocket 46, folded downward adjacent to the upper of the shoe.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Brown '573.

Brown teaches a shoe as claimed except for the locking means is a zipper (42) instead of VELCRO. It is well known in the art that zippers and VECLCRO are art recognized equivalents. Therefore, it would be an obvious design choice to substitute the zipper of Brown with a VELCRO closure, inasmuch as it would be cheaper to produce.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 5 and 6 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

9. Applicant is duly reminded that a complete response must satisfy the requirements of 37 C.F. R. 1.111, including:

-“The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references.”

--“A general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section.”

-Moreover, “The prompt development of a clear issue requires that the replies of the applicant meet the objections to and rejections of the claims. Applicant should also specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See MPEP 2163.06” MPEP 714.02. The “disclosure” includes the claims, the specification and the drawings.
